County Partners in Prevention is a local coalition supported by a Federal Drug- Free Community Grant, with over 60 members from diverse community sectors. Its mission is to prevent youth substance misuse including underage drinking, tobacco use, and marijuana. The coalition utilizes strategies universally accepted to create community change. Our goal is to raise awareness and reduce the stigma associated with treatment and harm reduction. A key focus is providing education on substance misuse to youth, parents, and community members. The coalition collaborates with government bodies, schools, law enforcement, youth, and other entities to implement policy changes aimed at reducing harm. Clark County Partners in Prevention is housed at Mckinley Hall, Inc.
